Friendship.

(By Rena E. Olds.)
What is that subtle, fair, elusive thing as friendship known?
A paltry toy?
A thing to be allured, embraced, then lightly thrown—
A passing joy?

Stand forth, my soul, and tell me softly what it means in part
To have a friend:
How much of joy or pain, perchance, another heart
To this dost lend.

Then sweetly clear and sure the answer came, inspired by heav'n,
To my rapt ear:
"There is no boon on earth, I woeen, to mortals giv'n—
Than friends who cheer."

"A drawing, heart to heart, by some unseen, obscure, innate
Affinity:
Then confidence and trust, than which one step more great—
Divinity.

"More strong than brother love; of many a life the secret power—
"I had a friend."
Not all its work complete till faith and love each hour
Together blend."

WEDDING BELLS.

ALAMEDA BELLE IS WEDDED TO NEVADAN

Miss Mary Kerwin Becomes Wife of District Attorney Wm. Woodburn. Alameda, Sept. 1.—The children of two prominent pioneers of the Comstock were united in marriage Tuesday evening, when Miss Mary Zita Kerwin of Alameda became the wife of William Woodburn, Jr. of Reno, Nev. The ceremony was performed at St. Joseph's Catholic church, Alameda, at 6:30 o'clock, by Father O'Connell. Henry Kerwin, brother of the bride, was the best man, and Horace Kerwin, the bride's sister, acted as bridesmaid.

A few invited friends of the families only were present at the wedding, it being the desire of the contracting parties to have the affair as quiet as possible. After the wedding those who were present went to the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Patrick Kerwin, on Bay street, where the wedding supper was served. Mr. and Mrs. Woodburn then left for San Francisco, and are staying for a few days at the Fairmont hotel.

Mrs. Woodburn was born on the Comstock, but she is well known in this city and across the bay. She was educated in Paris, and is a talented musician. Her father was one of the famous makers of high quality output of the mother lode. At various times he was superintendent and general manager of the Consolidated Virginia, the Currier, the Belcher and several other mines the names of which are written in the history of the far west.

William Woodburn, Jr., also comes from a family of the old Comstock aristocracy, his father having served his state as both congressman and supreme justice. Woodburn was born in Virginia, Nev., but educated in the east. He was for a long time private secretary to the late Senator Francis H. Newlands, his chair of department in one of the bureaus of Washington, and fought in the navy during the Spanish-American war. He is at present the district attorney of Washoe county, Nevada, and has a remarkable record of no acquittals on any felony charge during his term of office.—San Francisco Chronicle, Sept. 2.

Kerwin-Woodburn.

The wedding of Miss Mary Kerwin, formerly of this city, to William Woodburn of Reno, Nev., was interesting news to many Salt Lakeers. Mrs. Woodburn is the daughter of Mrs. M. H. Kerwin, one of the most charming and lovable women that ever graced the Salt Lake's social set. The bride is a charming girl, accomplished, attractive, with all the many graces of sweet womanhood. Mr. Woodburn, a gentleman, is a splendid type of western manhood, and the best wishes of hosts of friends are extended to him and his winsome bride.

E. H. Harriman.

New York, Sept. 9.—Edward H. Harriman died at his home in Arden at 3:55 this afternoon. Mr. Harriman had been in ill health for a long time. He was born at Hempstead, L. I., Feb. 25, 1848. There have been few single lives in the world of finance more radically affected so many states as did that of the late Edward Henry Harriman. On his recent return from Europe, the great change in Wall street spent nearly one whole day in suspense. Buying and selling were at a standstill. Everything depended upon the health of the little man coming up the bay. If it should prove to be on the road to recovery, would go Union Pacific, Central Pacific, New York Central and other securities under his control. If he was seen to be in a bad way, they would tumble. Until one or the other was definitely known there was nothing doing.

In the country he was as God made him. In business he was as Wall street made him. The man who had here one that will appear greater the more it is contemplated.

Two young employees of Arden house were married today. They were Thomas Murphy, an engineer, and a pretty girl named. Both have worked for the Harriman family for several years. When Mr. Harriman's condition took a critical turn last Sunday, it was suggested that the wedding be postponed. The young woman told Mrs. Harriman that she and Tom felt that out of respect to Mr. Harriman they should not be married at this time, but the millionaire's wife, it is said, told them that Mr. Harriman would not wish to have his illness interfere with their happiness. They were married by Father McEgan in the little Catholic church at Arden. Mr. Harriman's wedding gift was a check for $500.

Judge Lovett, who arrived at the Harriman offices from Arden today, said there was nothing to add to the statement of Dr. Lyle that Mr. Harriman's condition was unchanged.

A telephone call at 11:45 to the Harriman home brought a positive denial to the Wall street report of Mr. Harriman's death. This denial was stated too strongly on Dr. Lyle's authority, it was said at the house.

A Train Disaster.

The Salt Lake passenger train for Los Angeles dashed into a local passenger train at half-past 6 o'clock Thursday morning five miles east of this junction. Both engines were hurled down the embankment, and some of the passengers sustained serious injuries. As quickly as possible a relief train was sent to the scene of the accident, and on board were Surgeon H. A. Hoover, Assistant Surgeon Tyndale, Dr. Root, Dr. E. Whitney and six nurses from the Holy Cross hospital. Immediately after the accident the injured were conveyed to Eureka, where they got medical attention until the relief train arrived. Dr. W. E. Aughenbaugh, New York City, was a passenger on the through train to Los Angeles at the time of the accident, and he worked heroically for the wounded. The freight train at Eureka was turned into a hospital, and Drs. Gose, Laker, Lay and Howell were called and did all in their power for the injured. They were ably assisted by some ladies of Eureka, prominent amongst the number being the good sisters of the Holy Cross, Sisters Maud and Celine. The latter traveled back with Salt Lake City, as also did Mrs. Stack of Eureka. One of the passengers, Dennis Hannifin, died on the way. The Eureka priest, Father Mannion, looked after the spiritual wants of the injured. We tender our deep sympathies to the friends of Dennis Hannifin. It is, however, consoling to them in their sorrow to know that Dennis Hannifin got the rites of his church before death. The injured are being well looked after at the Holy Cross hospital, Salt Lake City.

St. Ann's Sewing Society.

The members of St. Ann's Sewing society will meet for the first time since July, next Monday. The president, Mrs. Margaret McMahon, returned from the east last week and intends to take the work up vigorously. For many years the society has gone along quietly without any "hurry" or "bustle," but the work has been done. Many non-Catholics have given their time to the good work, thereby helping the devoted, tired, hard-working sisters at St. Ann's. The women meet every Monday at 2 and sew until 5. Much work is taken home to be finished during the week. Dresses, aprons, underwear, trousers, shirts and everything for children is carefully made, while hundreds of stockings are "darned," only to be "undarned" the next week by the youngsters, but the good women do not mind, in their humility and peace, so only God and the patient sisters at St. Ann's know of the good they do. If there are any women, old or young, in the parish who wish to become acquainted with the truly good Catholic women of the city, let them come on next Monday afternoon to the Episcopal residence, adjoining the cathedral. There they will meet the gentle and kindly of women, Mrs. McMahon, who will introduce them to the devoted band of women who work for the little orphan children who are in the care of the grandest, noblest order of the Catholic world, Rt. Rev. Bishop Scanlan.

THE PEOPLE LIKE IT.

The Latest System Used by the I X L Stores Co., Where You Buy the Goods at Your Price.

A very unique system of selling household goods has been introduced by Hart & Myers, the celebrated auctioneers imported by the I X L Stores company from Chicago. The system is a new idea in merchandising, and Salt Lake City is the first place in the west where this plan has been introduced in connection with the selling of home furnishings. The plan is this: The concern have a stock of $175,000 which they have contracted to dispose of in fifteen days. The customers are given a choice of bedroom set, parlor suite, or anything needed for the home, the articles are placed on a platform in the center of the store. Here the articles are auctioned to the highest bidder, and the goods go to the highest bidder. A beautiful hand-carved dining room set consisting of five pieces, and valued at $1,200, sold yesterday for the sum of $1,000. A beautiful parlor set, including rug, large enough to cover a good-sized room, and valued at $190, sold at $187.50. A six-hole Monarch malleable range, valued at $80, sold for $75. It is certainly the opportunity for the people of Salt Lake City to purchase their wants in this line. It is the first and perhaps the last time this chance will ever be offered, and it will certainly give one a vision of this glorious sale. The sale will close Sept. 21. In addition to buying these goods at your own price, the concern are granting liberal credit to purchasers.

Poor Policy.

When one has an opportunity of saving some of his earnings it is poor policy to keep it idle. When one can safely invest and every dollar given that principle and interest are assured, it is poor policy to gamble in stocks. When one can see for himself that his savings are not increasing, because he does not avail himself of the opportunity to make a loan, it is poor policy and poorer business.

To make up for past losses, which, measured by years, sometimes would seem one principle, the wisest policy is to call at the office of the Salt Lake Security & Trust company, 32-34 Main street, where you will be politely treated and properly taken care of in any investment you wish to make. If you cannot call, write for any information you need.

When you buy or sell real estate insist on having the Home Abstract company make your abstracts. We have every facility necessary in the handling of titles, and it will be to your advantage to give us a call if you own property.

Famous Messina Madonna.

One of the most beautiful works of art in the Cathedral of Messina was the magnificent "Madonna of the Rosary," by Antonello. When the cathedral fell in ruins several months ago as the result of the earthquake that decimated Sicily, the handsome painting was counted as lost.

The clouds of smoke and dust had scarcely cleared away from trembling Messina when Professor Salinas, curator of the art museum at Palermo, hurried to the spot to try to recover such fragments of art as the earthquake might have spared. This famous Antonello was what he hoped for most earnestly. It was difficult to find what had been the museum, and was still more difficult to penetrate that vast heap of stone and plaster which had covered the site. But Professor Salinas and his assistants went carefully to work with pickaxes and spades, and at last, through a crevice, between two fallen walls, they caught sight of the spot where the masterpiece had been. A mass of fallen walls covered it. But they dug on until they had penetrated the gallery floor, and there, to their immense joy, they found the wall in falling toward the Antonello had struck the wall above it and had remained intact, thus forming a great treasure undamaged.

It required careful work to remove this screen of shaking masonry, but the task was accomplished, and the picture was taken down, packed and shipped to safer place.

"The Madonna of the Rosary" is a triptych, and the panels on either side are occupied by the figures of St. Gregory and St. Benedict, and above these are two panels of saints, half figures of the Annunciation and an angel. The central upper panel has been missing for many years.

This painting of Antonello's is interesting from a technical as well as from an artistic standpoint. It is a dispute with Van Eyck the honor of discovering the art of painting in oils, and this is believed to have been the picture that he painted in tempera, that he with his colors directly upon plaster. The best belief of critics is that Antonello learned the art of oil painting from Van Eyck.
